

About Our Cages

About our Cages. . . Bennett Infinite Modular Products Systems, or IMPS, is a family-owned and operated business. We pride ourselves on our unique line of hand-crafted cages like the "Emperor" and the "Guardian". The "Emperor" design was created to have a contemporary, artistic style, through the use of soft radius-curved corners, and compound radius curves throughout the entire top. The "Guardian" combines the radius corners of the "Emperor" with a flat top. Both sanctuaries use the same sidewall, door and feeding center panels. Each panel measures 24" wide by 6" or 7" high; however, most any height is available at your request. The bottom of each panel has a 1-1/2" adjustable aluminum ball foot. The use of anodized aluminum has been used for many years in the avian and pet trade and has proven to be totally safe. We have opted to use anodized aluminum as opposed to other conventional caging material, because it is lighter-weight, especially compared to stainless steel. There are no welds for the birds to fatigue and break, which is a big safety factor. Anodized aluminum is extremely durable, with a hardness similar to that of a ruby or emerald. Birds or environmental factors cannot change or harm the finish. The rich anodized luster is unsurpassed for beauty and is available in four colors: sage mist, champagne, gold, and silver. Regardless of the length of your sanctuary, we can ship directly to your door or deliver and personally set-up at your request. Ease of assembly is unsurpassed. Each panel is buttoned together in just a matter of minutes.
